

THE ART OF FAMILY ENGAGEMENT™

COMIC STRIP HEROES

When people imagine themselves with super powers, some of the “super” confidence and optimism rubs off and shapes their behavior.

CREATE a comic strip in which you pretend you are the new super hero. Draw yourself and create a unique costume. What special qualities are you know for? Who do you help? Who helps you? Illustrate a storyline that shows the special powers and the problems this new superhero solves.

--	--	--

PRESENT the superhero story to family and friends. Ask them for more ideas about what the superhero can do and suggestions for the comic strip.

RESPOND to each other's comic strip and superhero story. Revise and re-illustrate a story that shows their special powers and new ways to solve problems.

--	--	--

CONNECT music with your superhero stories. What tune and lyrics should you sing to represent the superpowers and situation?

